

Statement of Prague University of Economics and Business on Current Situation in Ukraine

Prague, February 24, 2022 – The Prague University of Economics and Business (VŠE) unequivocally condemns the military aggression against Ukraine, which is in conflict with international law and with the basic values that the University has long professed.

VŠE always intensively supports friendly relations between all states and nations through extensive international mobility of students and academics, close cooperation with partner universities around the world and admission of students from abroad. Therefore, it rejects any violence which, in turn, destroys these relations and has serious economic consequences.

The Prague University of Economics and Business and its faculties will make every effort to mitigate the impact on Ukrainian students.
